"IN GOD'S COUNTRY."

That's Where Raleighites Live.

This thing of "Go west young man," is about played out. Several Raleigh people have gone west-way out west, too-very recently, and some of them have come back with glowing accounts of what they saw, and when listened to, they almost make a fellow think that the WEST is the land of the "golden fleece," or the fabled Atlantis, or some other such country.

But these travelers fall into the common error of telling all about the big things and the great things they see. In truth, this about all they do see, for as a rule, they havn't time to look around and see where the poor folks are, how many there, &c , &c. They come back here and tell about half dozen who went to the WEST without a cent, and now have from $50,000 to $100,000 - all made in periods ranging from three to ten June 3, 11:30 a. m. The "Lend a Hand" circle of the years. But they don't say a thing about King's Daughters is preparing to give a thousand people who went out there an elegant lawn party in the postoffice with a little money and haven't even got

A Raleigh lady is out there (Texas) now. She has written a letter to friends here, and that letter shows very plainly | Henry A. Brown, Winston, N. C. that she doesn't think there is any "Atlantis" in the WEST. She said she literary societies by Dr. J. K. Stockard, Cotton continues to move forward. hadn't seen a tree since she left Abilene Liberty, N. C. C. grades were offering. The market is water. The sun is so hot out there in the day time that it raises big blisters on the ground. It's even too hot for colored people. The lady said she hadn't seen a colored person since she left Abilene. They won't stay in such a country. She has seen some people who have money, but what's the good of money when you are compelled to do your own ploughing, boeing and cooking. The main conventional object of having money is to pay somebody to wait on you; and if you can't find anybody who will hire out to you, you as much or more than 20 cents per yard might as well not have a cent.

One of the gentlemen who went from here to Fort Worth said he stopped with a man worth a million dollars; yet his wife did the cooking. She had to do this because there was no body around Mr. J. S. Wynne returned home from to hire. Now, say what you will about Oxford on yesterday. The Raleigh economy and all that sort of thing. but the man who has a million dollars and can't get a coachman and a cook is in a much worse fix than the fellow who has'nt got a cent. But this seems to be

Its a mighty good place for a man who is mean enough to want his wife to do the drudgery of the household. He can throw the work on her on the plea that he can't get any help; but it won't do for folks who have been raised in such gloriously good places as Raleigh

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

Raleigh Ought to Let the World Know What a Day it Is.

Raleigh didn't jubilate on the last "Fourth of July." She had her hands too full of colleges and factories about that time to give the matter proper at-Rev. R. A. Willis, Presiding Elder of tention. She ought, by all means, to what might be made the biggest celebration ever seen in the city.

There ought to be at least a five hundred dollar display of fireworks, and nothing is easier than to have it if the people will get to work on the matter right away. There is already some sub-stantial enthusiasm over the matter, and it only needs a little encouragement to materialize into something great.

THE WORLD'S COMMERCE.

NEW YORK, May 27.-Messrs. Hubbard, Price & Co. in their cotton circular to-night say: The Liverpool market has remained closed to-day, but New York has amply demonstrated its ability to "go it alone." and speculations in the summer months has needed no stimulant to intensify its activity. The market opened at above 7 points over last evening's prices for the summer, positions, but the shorts in July soon commenced to show great nervousness, and after the annual meeting of the exchange, that month advanced by leaps and bounds in a very short time until it sold at 12.96. At this price some sellers seemed to be found, and a supply of about 3,000 bales proved sufficient to satisfy the demand and bring about a reaction of 20 points. From then until the close the market was nervous and unsettled and no one seems to have any fixed convictions to its future corse.

Receipts at our ports to-day estimated at 1,500 bales, against 2,252 bales last week.

The spot market is nominal at 1.4 advance in prices; middling uplands 12 7-16 cents.; sales 160 bales. Transactions in futures to-day 133,000
